

Chapter 1 – The Camino de Santiago

- an adventure from our backyard -

11 days & 10 nights: The Beginning

All good endings start with a great beginning!

We start our Camino at the border of Spain in the Pyrenees. On this journey, we come down from Roncesvalles into Hemingway's Pamplona, stroll through the vineyards of La Rioja, and pass through hilltop villages connected by Roman Roads.

Day 1: Pamplona & Roncesvalles

In the afternoon, we meet the group in Pamplona for a private transfer to the foothills of the Pyrenees. We start our Camino with a walk up and down into Roncesvalles, where we attend a moving Pilgrim's Mass. The blessing at the end is an appropriate way for us to start our journey. Afterwards, we have our first night's feast – perhaps some trout, like the ones Hemingway used to catch in the local river!

Leaving our hotel, we follow the yellow arrow through pastures and fields that make this part of Basque Navarra so famous for its local fresh produce. We walk by "caseríos", giant stone farmhouses that have been in the same family for generations and generations. Tradition is the theme here! Our day ends at the town's "fronton", the court where Basques Pelota is enjoyed by the youngsters!

We continue to Larrasoaña, a town with strong ties to the Camino as it was mentioned in the 12th century Codex Calixtinus, the official Camino guidebook of the time! Keep an eye out for several Jacobean signs and armor shields on the stone buildings.

Day 4: Zuriain to Pamplona

A lighter day in the boots, we work our way into Pamplona, where we come across the 15th century Cathedral of Santa María la Real, with its beautiful cloisters and interesting façade. Pamplona’s patron saint is San Fermín, and in keeping with tradition, this energetic university city is always filled with tourists and locals, ready to keep the festivities going!

After coming down the hill, we regroup and return to Pamplona, where we have some time to explore the main square.
